City of Madera General Plan Update Land Use Map Suggestion Form

The City of Madera is updating its General Plan, and is seeking ideas from property owners and the public about how and where to change the planned land uses shown on the Land Use Policy Map. The Land Use Policy Map shows the City's policy for future land uses, both in newly developing areas and in existing areas of Madera where land uses may change over time.

This form may be used to submit your ideas for future land uses to the City so that they can be considered during the General Plan Update process. If a land use suggestion is included in the General Plan Update it will be considered in the environmental analysis for the Update, although this will not preclude the need for additional, more detailed environmental review when a specific development project is proposed.

Submitting a suggestion for a change to the Land Use Map is not the same as submitting a development application. Contact the City if you have any questions about how these ideas will be used in the General Plan Update process.

Residents, property owners, and other persons interested in the future of Madera are also invited to take part in the numerous public meetings being held during the Update process. Information on meetings is available online at www.maderageneralplan.com or at City Hall.
